

Ben Nutland

A strong voice for Bristol South

Ben is a committed campaigner for social justice. He was inspired to join the Liberal Democrats by Charles Kennedy and his opposition to the Iraq War - since then he has been a passionate advocate for local people, working hard to make sure peoples' voices are heard at the local and Parliamentary level.

Ben was born in Bristol and moved to nearby Yate at a young age. He is now the Managing Director of a locally based international food company.

Ben is a UNICEF Children's champion in the South West for the United Nations. In that role he is working hard to ensure the UK government listens and understands the concerns and plight of the people of Syria and other unstable regions where human rights are under threat.

At a national level, Ben works with the US Embassy in London as a member of its Young Leaders UK initiative, helping to foster stronger relations between our two countries. The Young Leaders programme has had the opportunity to meet with and discuss major world issues with former President Barack Obama, Secretary of State John Kerry and the civil rights leader Reverend Jesse Jackson.

Here in Bristol South, Ben wants to see more affordable housing and action on rising rent and house-prices; our treasured parks looked after and protected; improved transport links and investment in sustainable transport; a clean air zone in Bristol to cut dangerous air pollution; and jobs and housing placed at Hengrove Park in a way that leaves enough parkland for local people to enjoy.

On June 8th, choose Ben as our next MP...

Schools: Why won't the Government listen?

Local schools are under threat from a Conservative Party that has stopped listening to local people in Bristol.

Conservative cuts to our schools means fewer teachers and bigger classes.

Schools in Bristol are set to lose £34 million from their budgets - the worst in the UK!

Ben Nutland is opposing unfair school cuts that will hurt our children's education

The Conservatives WON'T and Labour CAN'T.

Give this country the opposition to Hard Brexit that it needs and back the Liberal Democrats.

Ben Nutland voted Remain - and will stand up to the Government against hard Brexit

The Lib Dems came 2nd in Bristol South in the 2005 and 2010 General Elections. Since the Brexit referendum they surged, and just a couple of weeks ago came 2nd again in Bristol South!

NHS at breaking point

Conservative cuts have left our NHS in dire trouble. Waiting lists are longer, operations cancelled, A&E under pressure as never before.

The Lib Dems will solve the crisis by increasing income tax by a penny to fund a £6bn-a-year cash injection for the NHS and social care.

Lib Dems are clear that our national healthcare system must provide high quality care to all – across both mental and physical health.

Ben Nutland and the Lib Dems will fight for the funding our NHS needs
